Northern Virginia Community College to Launch Workforce 'DiscovFREE' Sessions

Starting on April 24th, Northern Virginia Community College (NOVA) will be offering a series of Workforce 'DiscovFREE' webinar sessions intended to provide career information for individuals who may seek to gauge their interest in certain fields of business and IT. The first sessions in the series will provide an in-depth look into Web Development, Software Automation, Amazon Web Services Cloud Computing, CompTIA+ certifications, and Fundraising. Each engaging session will be led by a NOVA instructor to discuss programs and answer questions about career possibilities one can achieve with these skills. All sessions are available at no cost to members of the community. Registration for these sessions is now open.
